If each side of a cube is increased by 50% , then the volume is increased by: